AIRMAN EATS WALRUS.

LOST ON ARCTIC ICE-FLOES.

BRISTOL FAMILY'S JOY AT RESCUE.

"Alec safe." This was the two-words cablegram received in Bristol by the family of Flying Officer A. A. Lewis, who was rescued, with Flight-Sergeant N. C. Terry, after being adrift for eight days on ice-floes off the Labrador coast.

Flying Officer Lewis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Lewis, of Forest-road, Fishponds, Bristol, and the family were overjoyed at the news of his safety, for he had been given up as lost.

The message was sent by the airman's wife, whom Mr. Lewis married last year. It was confirmed later by a cablegram from Toronto to the effect that Flying Officer Lewis and Flight-Sergeant Terry were safe at Port Burwell, one of the bases of the Canadian Government's air expedition to Hudson Strait. The two men were members of that expedition.

Dog-Team Search.

In an earlier official communication notifying Mrs. Lewis that her son was missing it was stated that a fruitless search had been undertaken by aeroplanes and dog teams, though hope had not been given up. Flying Officer Lewis was educated at Bristol. At the age of 18 he joined the Bristol University O.T.C. on the outbreak of war. He went into training with the Royal Air Force, and later spent several months in flying operations over the Ypres sector. He also served with the Army of Occupation in Germany.

After the war he joined the Auxiliary Air Force and went first to Ireland and then to Palestine in charge of motor transport. Subsequently he engaged in civil flying enterprises.

Once, when flying near Oxford, one of the cylinders of his machine broke away, but he and his companion landed in an asparagus bed and were able to crawl away from the wrecked machine uninjured. Three years ago he went to Canada and joined the Air Force there. He has undertaken parachute descents from great heights and has also carried out patrol work over vast forests on the look-out for fires.

The adventure on which he has just been engaged was an expedition, with a dozen airmen and survey staff, to determine the navigation conditions in the Hudson Bay territory over a period of 18 months. The three bases established cover the Hudson Bay Strait for 500 miles.

Raw Walrus As Food.

ORAWA. The eight days spent adrift on icefloes off the Labrador coast by Flying Officer Lewis, Flight-Sergeant Terry, and an Eskimo, were followed by four days of eyelid travel, making a forced landing on Atlantic icefloes 80 miles off the coast the men travelled one day easterly through heavy weather in low visibility, when they found they were heading towards the open sea across the floe.

Retracing their course, they reached land on the Labrador coast. They were picked up there by an Eskimo hunter.

During the journey over the ice they used an air raft in going from floe to floe. The final stages were made on small ice pans by using the paddles belonging to the air raft.

£250 DOG'S DEATH RIDDLE.

LONDON, March 25th. One of the most valuable dogs in the Southend greyhound racing kennels, Trienegrath Boy, was found dead on Saturday morning, and a post-mortem examination is to be held.

Trienegrath Boy, who was valued at £250, had won a good race on Friday—his 10th success on the track—and was perfectly fit when he died in his kennel at the night. Trainers have recently been found in the neighbourhood of the kennels, and on one occasion a kennel-boy was attacked and left in a semi-conscious condition by an intruder who made off in a motor-car.

STOCKBROKER'S FATAL FALL FROM WINDOW.

PARTNER MYSTIFIED.

"I LOOKED UPON HIM AS A SUPER-MAN."

The death mystery of a City stockbroker who fell from a window of his office was unsolved at the inquest before Mr. Danford Thomas.

The jury found that Mr. Angel Henry Hart, of Austing's, E.C., died from his injuries, but that there was not sufficient evidence to show whether he met his death by accident or by suicide.

Mr. Harold S. Simmons appeared for the family, and several business interests were represented.

Mr. Mathew Hope Paterson, a partner in the firm in which Mr. Hart was senior partner, said he had known Mr. Hart for 33 years, fourteen of which was with the firm in the management of which he took a very active part.

"I always looked upon him as a super-man," remarked Mr. Paterson. "How would you describe his temperament?—He was temperamental, I should say. I knew that he suffered from sleeplessness about 18 months ago and consulted a specialist with those reports he was delighted.

The coroner: He was a man who might be up one day and down another? Mr. Paterson: Yes, temperamental. Occasionally moody and at other times jolly.

Conversation With Wife.

On Tuesday, Mr. Paterson said, he did not see Mr. Hart until the afternoon, but frequently heard him in his room, and about three o'clock heard him speak over the phone to his wife.

"I heard him say to her distinctly, 'Don't trouble, I am very busy,' Mr. Paterson said. He was also in the habit of leaving for the 'house' at three. He passed through Mr. Paterson's room for a few minutes later, and he tried to ask his advice on a question with regard to a wire which had come from a correspondent.

Mr. Paterson said that this referred to a small matter of routine. The wire and its answer were open to the inspection of the jury.

"I rose from my chair to open the door for him," Mr. Paterson added, "and Mr. Hart observed, 'I will see you later.' He never saw the wire and passed out as if he was in a hurry."

He thought Mr. Hart had left for the 'house.' Shortly afterwards he heard someone in Mr. Hart's room. "About the same time an ambulance bell sounded. Looking from the window he saw a crowd in the area below. A colleague came into his room, exclaiming: 'Mr. Hart has gone over the window.'"

"The Biggest Mystery."

"It has come as a bolt from the blue to me, and it is the biggest mystery I can think of. There was absolutely no reason for it," said Mr. Paterson.

Mr. Hurd: Did you know that Mr. Hart had been dealing very largely in Vocalion shares?—I never knew him buy a share, but I was connected with another section of the business and would not know.

Mr. Simmons: It would come as a great surprise to you to know that he had been gambling to such an extent as to upset him?

Mr. Paterson: I should be very much surprised. If anything, I should say he was ultra-conscientious.

Mr. Herbert Lees, the third partner in the firm, told how Mr. Hart appeared to have been run down at one period and went away for a change.

Mr. Simmons: Were his affairs in perfect order?

Mr. Lees: In perfect order. Mr. Simmons: It has been suggested that he was gambling in Vocalion shares.

Mr. Lees: That is absurd. Mr. Hurd: I did not suggest anything of the kind. I asked, as instructed, if he had been dealing in those shares.

Mr. Simmons (to Mr. Lees): So far as you know, his commitments in Vocalion shares, were nil?

Mr. Lees: He never had a share. Did he have any shares of a speculative nature?—No, never. He was not a speculator.

Mr. Simmons said that the life policies taken out by Mr. Hart were: One for £2,000 in 1900, £1,000 in 1912, £2,000 in 1918, £1,000 in 1921, and £250 in 1924. Apart from these there was an accident insurance for £2,000.

TWICE SAVED FROM BEING AN INVALID FOR LIFE AFTER THE DOCTORS HAD FAILED BOTH TIMES.

POO ON CHINESE HERBS CURED HIM PERMANENTLY.

Doctors advised amputation of arms in 1917 to prevent death from blood poisoning and the second time cut out tonsils and extracted all teeth to cure rheumatism due as they thought to injuries. Man testifies that at both times Poo On Chinese Herbs were the only means of saving him from being an invalid for life, relieving him of terrible pain.

C. W. Owens, who now lives at 220

Lecon-street, Modesto, California, U.S.A., and who formerly lived at 531 West-avenue, Turlock, California, said recently:—

"On March 20th, 1917, I left Modesto for Tacoma,
Washington, where I was engaged in a logging camp as head tender.
I worked as this trade up to this year. In January 1st, 1923, while working on a wharf, that a truck backed and struck me. I fell and landed on my right shoulder and leg. My right side was badly injured and later on the company's doctor examined me and ordered me to go to a hospital. I was in the hospital three months and during this time eight physicians examined and treated me. Each had a different opinion, but the majority thought I was suffering from rheumatism, due to my injury.

Then they decided I might get help from Chinese treatments, but after taking them for a while my condition was even worse instead of better. The physicians then thought that I had pyorrhea and carious teeth and advised that my tonsils and teeth be all taken out and this was done according to their advice. Then my hands and joints all over my body began to swell and I got worse and worse. My wrists got as stiff as boards. My head ached and I had pains all the time all over my body. My pains were so bad that I could not sleep at night. My appetite was absolutely no good and I could only drink a little milk or take a little light food. I could not lie on my back or on my side. If I did my breath would be cut short. At times I could only lie on my left side for 10 or 15 minutes but this was the longest as my pain aroused me.

The physicians at the hospital tried all they could to give me relief and to cure me, but they said they had done all they could, and that I could only let nature have its own course, as mine was an impossible case. It was something unusual to them and they exhausted their ability to bring me satisfactory results. They said that Nature will take her course and the trouble will wear itself out. Then I began to think how badly I was when in Modesto, in 1916, I was hurt and crippled up nearly as bad—may be worse. At this time I was examined by six physicians. They all told me that my arms must be amputated or I would die of blood poisoning.
After relatives and friends
recommended me to take the Poo On Chinese Herbs I decided to try them. I was then a complete nervous wreck and a cripple and had painful sufferings. After taking the herbs for three weeks I went to work on my uncle's ranch and could plough two acres of land a day and chop wood. I have been a well man and enjoyed the best of health and find no illness of any kind until this last accident happened to me. On January 1st, 1923, I weighed 198 pounds and when I left Tacoma I weighed only 127 pounds. When I arrived in Modesto I was on two crutches. I was unable to get into the house of the Poo On Chinese Herbs Company, without help. After taking the herbs in the neighbourhood of two weeks, I threw away my crutches and now I am able to walk naturally. My wrists are free from all swelling and stiffness and all pain has left me. I sleep well every night and eat everything I want,
I go anywhere and can walk over two miles a day without distress or difficulty. My only complaint is that I cannot chew because my teeth are all gone. I eat things I am able to, without my teeth and everything digests fine. My case seemed so impossible and so many doctors had given me up. I certainly feel that the Poo On Chinese Herbs have done wonders for me.
I cannot say enough to praise them.

The following testimony is given by Mr. Owens in 1917 when he took the Poo On Chinese Herbs for the first time:

Mr. Owens says: "Last year, on September 20th, my arm was hurt from a fall. I then began to suffer great pain in my back and the bottom of my left foot began to swell.
My arm grew smaller, from 12 1/2 inches to 5 1/2 inches, and my weight fell from 185 pounds to 145 pounds in three months. The pain was so severe that I could not sleep at night; sometimes only able to sleep five or ten minutes at a time. I would have to sit up or keep moving about to feel easy and get relief, and could only lay on my right side. My left hand and arm were practically useless. My left foot was so bad that I could just drag it around. I doctored with six physicians spending $400. They told me there was no hope for me to get well. I took the medicine from them but it did me no good.
At last one doctor told me my arm would have to be taken off or I would never get any better, and there might be a chance for my trouble to grow out by itself. I did not want to take the chance of losing my arm, and then not recovering. A friend told me to see the Poo On Chinese Herbs Company, and find out if the Chinese Herbs could benefit my case. He had heard of other cases similar to mine being cured. I really did not have much confidence in becoming well, but on the strength of my friend's advice I called on the Poo On Chinese Herbs Co. to learn what results I might expect from the herbs treatment. My brother and my wife took me to the Poo On Chinese Herbs Company, assisted me into the place. My hand and arm were practically useless.
I could not raise it to put it on the desk without assistance, and could only drag my left foot. The first dose of herb tea I drank that night, sleeping soundly all night, and I felt better every day. Now I have no pain, sleep well at night without any trouble, and my arm which had shrunk from 12 1/2 inches to 5 1/2 inches is now filling out and is over 9 inches. I can now use my hand and arm freely and can walk naturally going anywhere I please, and am regaining my weight. After taking the Poo On Chinese Herbs for three weeks, I was able to plough two acres of land and not suffer any ill effects.
I now feel fine."

MR. LEE HYSAN CROSS-EXAMINED.

BUSINESS METHODS CRITICISED.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

The libel action against Mr. Lee Hysan, in which the plaintiff is Mr. Pedro Jose Lobo, the Macao Government official in charge of the production and control of opium in the Portuguese Colony, was continued in the Supreme Court yesterday before the Chief Justice (Sir Henry Gollan).

The defendant was cross-examined at great length by Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C. who with Mr. Sheldon appears for the plaintiff.

Mr. Lee Hysan said, in answer to Mr. Alabaster that the first time he saw a share receipt of the Yau Sing Company was when he got Fung's letter. The receipt said nothing about the opium monopoly.

Witness agreed that he got some information from the comprador of the Mercantile Bank.

Coming to the Yau Sing Company witness said that the sole proprietor was Mr. Lee Yue Sing, his nephew, the son of his eldest brother. He denied that there was any Yau Sing Company in which there were shareholders and with which he, witness was connected.

Mr. Alabaster produced a document and asked witness if it were share certificate. Mr. Lee Hysan described it as a receipt for money invested under conditions.

Mr. Alabaster said the document was numbered 3,021 and that the capital of $3,000,000 was mentioned. The managing directors were named as Mr. Lee Hysan and another while Fung and But were given as managers.

Mr. Alabaster: Do you say that the Yau Sing Company is a company carrying on business under the sole proprietorship of your nephew?—Yes. If you want to go further look up the company's conditions.

Was Mr. Lee Kin Fu a shareholder?—No.

Has he taken proceedings against you in bankruptcy to get that company wound up?—Ex parte.

After a protest by Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., for the defendant that the questions were irrelevant Mr. Alabaster said that he was suggesting that the company was a Jekyll and Hyde affair and proceedings were initiated to get the company wound up.

Mr. Alabaster: The Macao courts have found that there was a company and ordered it to be wound up. Only recognised money invested to bring a profit. There were no shareholders.

Mr. Lee Hysan agreed that if it had been a company it would have been illegal. He did not call himself managing director but general manager.

Why do you call the document a share certificate?—Because we have to share the profit according to the capital of $3,000,000. About two-thirds of the capital is owned by my family and under my control. About eight lakhs of the $3,000,000 were his own, about a million was owned by his family and under his control and the rest was from friends.

The opium farm was previously run by a firm in his brother's name. Later it was in witness's name. Lee Yue Sing knew little about the matter.

Mr. Lee Hysan agreed that before Macao adopted the Geneva Convention his company, the Yau Sing Company, had had the right of preparing and retaining opium in Macao and the right to import and re-export.

Mr. Alabaster: You had stocks of opium which you had either prepared or re-exported?—Yes.

You sold those stocks to the Government?—Yes.

Under the Convention they could not export them raw or prepared?—They could get a certificate from the country of origin.

The only thing the Government could do was to prepare the opium and use it for local consumption?—I don't agree. They could re-export it to the country from which it came.

But article 8 of the Convention says they can't do that?—They can return it to the country of origin.

You think the Government bought this opium from you for the purpose of sending it back to His Lordship? He has not said that.

When the Yau Sing Company was started Fung asked witness if it was advisable to invest in it. Later witness wrote to Fung asking him to get various particulars regarding the company. He wrote because he wanted an answer in writing.

AFTERNOON HEARING.

Mr. Lee Hysan was further cross-examined by Mr. Alabaster at the afternoon session. He said that after the enquiry held by the Macao Government on September 22nd (as a result of defendant's petition), he had not proceeded any further in the matter neither had he gained further knowledge.

Mr. Alabaster asked witness whether or not he had made a statement at the enquiry that he was not convinced of the truth of the report about the distribution of the two amounts mentioned in the letter containing the alleged libel. Witness replied that he did make such a statement. "He was convinced that it was untrue for the reason that the sum mentioned was too small to be the security as he had been paying over lakhs for the monopoly he held."

Questioned as to why he retained sixteen lawyers in Macao, witness said that that had been his practice for the last eight years. Mr. Lee Hysan said that it was useful to have them. "They all come to ask for it," he added. These legal practitioners were receiving their retainers from the Yau Sing Co. and not from him personally.

Mr. Alabaster: Is the reason you give the retainers that, if all the lawyers are acting for you, it is difficult for other people to have legal trouble with you?

Defendant: No, there are still others available.

Mr. Alabaster: The fact that you were not consulted when the Government took over the monopoly made you angry? you were disappointed, I suppose?—Yes, I was disappointed, because I still had a stock of opium, and I consider that I should have been consulted, and given longer notice in order to get rid of it.

Mr. Alabaster then pointed out that defendant's former manager, Mr. Lu Kin But was consulted by the Macao Government about the new scheme. Mr. Lee replied that he was also annoyed with Mr. Lu on the ground that being his manager, he had failed to report the consultation to him.

In the course of further replies, witness said that he was not desirous of continuing the opium monopoly, as it was not profitable.

Mr. Alabaster asked how witness could have paid 25 per cent. on $3,000,000 capital to subscribers in the second term of his monopoly and on his own investment of $800,000, gained 25 per cent. if the business was not profitable. Witness replied that it was not a profit of 25 per cent., but a repayment of capital not required and he had therefore returned it.

Witness was also asked how he could have voluntarily increased the monthly payment to the Macao Government by $35,000, four months after the beginning of the second term of his monopoly, if he did not make very good profits. Mr. Lee said that sum was given in exchange for better facilities.

Summing up the case for the defence, Mr. Potter said that as to Hong Kong, there was literally no publication at all. The copy to the Portuguese Consul General was given at the special request of the Consul, who wanted it for purposes of the enquiry. The handing over of a privileged document to a member of a Commission was privileged, and that was sufficient protection to the defendant. The copy given to Cheung Choi was for the purpose of translation, and was covered by precedents quoted earlier in the case.

On the question of malice, Mr. Potter said that the defendant was convinced that Yau Sing Company had made the statement that they had paid $150,000 for the concession, but the defendant was not satisfied that the Government had granted the monopoly for that amount. This allegation was of interest to the Macao Government, and defendant had therefore brought the matter to its notice, so that an enquiry might be made. In the defendant's handling of the translation there was no sinister motive and no evidence of malice.

Mr. Sheldon, made the closing address on behalf of the plaintiff. He said that although Mr. Lee Hysan had said he had no wish to injure Mr. Lobo, there was evidence of an intense desire to ruin the head of the Opium Administration. "The Opium King of Macao had lost his crown," said Mr. Sheldon, "and Mr. Lobo had stepped into his shoes." In view of this could it be believed that Mr. Lee Hysan was not angry?

Mr. Sheldon criticised Mr. Lee Hysan's practice of retaining so many lawyers in Macao as fantastical, and the court was entitled to draw an inference therefrom.

As to the letter which contained the alleged libel, Mr. Sheldon said that malice was shown in those interpolated words in brackets. If no malice was conveyed, defendant could very well have inserted the original Chinese characters, instead of committing them to writing and adding the words in brackets.

On the question of damages, Mr. Sheldon said that it would have been most interesting to have had in the witness box the writer of that letter, Fung Cheong. This man was a most mysterious figure throughout the case and the defence should have produced him and given the Court an opportunity of testing the grounds Mr. Lee Hysan had for placing such reliance on the letter which he had used, counsel contended, to publish a most foul libel on Mr. Lobo.

On the question of damages, Mr. Sheldon said the Court was entitled to take into consideration the defendant's conduct before and during the trial and he would point out that, although Mr. Lee Hysan now said that he did not read into Mr. Fung Cheong's letter the libel upon Mr. Lobo which all the witnesses for the plaintiff said they quite clearly read into it, he nevertheless—neither in his evidence nor through his Counsel—had uttered a word of regret that he had been the means of circulating this foul and libellous allegation to such an extent that it had now become common talk in Macao.

In order that the addresses might be concluded, the Court sat until 6.25 p.m., and the Chief Justice intimated that he would deliver a written judgment.

THE MAN OF A THOUSAND FACES in a role that surpasses anything he has ever done previously for sustained thrills, mystery and dramatic surprise!

BOY'S UNRULY SPIRIT.
STORY OF MOVING CHAIRS.
TEST BY EXPERTS.

Douglas Drew, a fair-haired, blue-eyed boy of eight years, who lives with his aunt, Miss Olga Akerblad, in Park-street, Grosvenor-square, W., was taken to the National Laboratory of Psychological Research, Queensberry-place, S.W., for preliminary observations.

He is said to be possessed of a poltergeist, or unruly spirit, and it was upon the testimony of Baron Bonde, who until recently was secretary of the Swedish Legation, that the officials of the National Laboratory decided to make a prolonged study of the boy.

Mr. Harry Price, the director of the laboratory and a reporter and photographer waited for more than an hour at the laboratory, but nothing happened.

Mr. Price explained that the boy would be kept under observation every afternoon this week and unusual incidents recorded by the observers.

Teapot Smashed.
Miss Akerblad, who was formerly employed in the Lord Chamberlain's office in Sweden and afterwards at the Swedish Legation in London, said that Douglas's mother, her sister, is now living in Paris, and the boy had lived with her for about two years. She added:

His mother was putting him to bed one night when the chair on which he was standing moved away from her, leaving Douglas in her arms.

Soon afterwards a teapot was hurled across the room and smashed.

These things began to get so unnerving that I mentioned it to Baron Bonde, and he asked me to telephone to him whenever anything happened. A few days later, a Sunday, a chair moved across the room and I telephoned to him. When he came my sister, Mrs. Drew, was sitting on a chair with Douglas on her lap when the chair moved forward with them both. Three times the chair moved.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

FOUR NEW BILLS.

WATCHMEN'S BILL TO BE DISCUSSED AT NEXT MEETING.

COUNSEL TO APPEAR.

A meeting of the Legislative Council was held in the Council Chamber yesterday at noon. H.E. the Governor presided and there were also present H.E. the Officer Commanding the Troops (Major-General C. C. Luard), the Colonial Secretary, the Attorney-General, the Colonial Treasurer, the Director of Public Works, the Captain Superintendent of Police, the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, the Hon. Sir H. E. Pollock, the Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, the Hon. Mr. D. G. M. Bernard, the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, the Hon. Mr. A. C. Hynes, the Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes and Mr. T. W. Ainsworth (Deputy Clerk of Council).

Mr. R. A. C. North, the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, took the oath upon taking his seat as a member of Council.

The agenda comprised the reading of four new Bills. The Bill for the registration and regulation of watchmen also came up for further consideration, but detailed discussion of this measure was postponed until the next meeting when it was stated, representatives of interested parties would address the Council on various points.

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the Bill was read a first time.

INCORPORATION OF THE S.C.A.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill intituled An Ordinance to provide for the incorporation of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. He said: The list of properties in the Schedule of the Bill is the list of properties which at present stands in the name of either of the present substantive holder of the Office of Secretary for Chinese Affairs, or in that of some former substantive or acting holder of that office, or in some register under the title Secretary of Chinese Affairs, or under the title of Registrar-General; the Registrar-General, of course, was the former title of the office of Secretary for Chinese Affairs. All these properties stand in the name, therefore, of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, using that term to include all individuals who have held the office in the past. All the properties, of course, that sooner or later each of these properties may have to be dealt with, and at present the means of dealing with these properties are not very convenient. For example, in the case of property held in the name of some former Registrar-General it is necessary to get from him a Power of Attorney for some one in the Colony in order to deal legally with the estate. In the case of property standing in the name of some deceased former holder of the office it would be necessary to obtain authority from his executors before the property could be dealt with. It is obvious, therefore, that the simplest method will be to incorporate the Secretary for Chinese Affairs and to vest all this property in him; also to enable him to hold as a corporation any other property that it may be desirable to assign to him in trust. The Bill follows generally the form of Incorporation Ordinances.

I said that all property specified in the schedule stands in the name of the Secretary for Chinese Affairs or the Registrar-General or in the name of some holder of this office. There is one exception to that. It is the case of Shaukiwan Inland Lot 142. This is the site of a temple at Shaukiwan. The Crown Lease in that case, which is for 999 years, is in the name of Lam Ah Neung, and as I have explained in the "Objects and Reasons" of this Bill an attempt was made to find Lam Ah Neung. The attempt was unsuccessful and it is not surprising for it turns out to be the name of a goddess, or at least the name was put forward by the villagers as the goddess of the temple. That is the only case in which the Bill proposes to invest in the new Corporation any property which does not at present stand in the name of some holder of the office of Secretary for Chinese Affairs or in the name of the office itself.

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the Bill was read a first time.

DANGEROUS DRUGS.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill intituled An Ordinance to amend the Dangerous Drugs Ordinance, 1923. He said: This Bill is intended to give effect in Hong Kong to the terms of the International Convention of opium and dangerous drugs which was signed at Geneva on February 19th, 1923. Our existing dangerous drugs legislation has already anticipated in some respects the requirements of the Convention, but it has been found necessary to make various technical alterations in the law and it will be also necessary to make certain alterations in our dangerous drugs regulations. The changes made are largely in the nature of provisions to stop up various loopholes in the legislation which it has been found desirable to stop up so as to strengthen the defences of the Colony and the world generally against dangerous drugs. One important addition to the list of dangerous drugs was made by the recent Geneva Convention, namely the drug known under various names which is derived from the Indian hemp plant. Our legislation will go even further than the Convention, in prohibiting any possession of the plant, or any part thereof in Hong Kong. The tincture derived from the plant is used medicinally and will be included in the list of dangerous drugs, but the plant itself will be totally prohibited. This is the plant which is also used in the form of hashish and it is a drug which has very deleterious effects. The other provisions of the Bill are mere matters of detail and need not be referred to at this stage.

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the Bill was read a first time.

CHANGE IN NAME OF P.C.M.O.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill intituled An Ordinance to give effect to the change in the name and style of the office heretofore known as that of the Principal Civil Medical Officer. He said: It is proposed that the Medical and Sanitary Services shall be re-organized and the Medical head shall be known as the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services. This Bill is intended to effect the necessary change in title in the Ordinances and also in other official and legal documents.

The Colonial Secretary seconded, and the Bill was read a first time.

REGISTRATION OF WATCHMEN.

The Attorney-General moved the first reading of a Bill intituled An Ordinance to provide for the registration and regulation of watchmen was read a second time, and passed the committee stage, at the last meeting of Council. I now move that it be recommitted for two purposes. The first is in order to amend clause 12 so as to make it refer only to Police watchmen. That is the clause which gives the power of arrest to watchmen. At present the clause as it stands gives the power to every registered watchman. It is proposed to alter it so as to give the power of arrest only to police watchmen. The other object of recommitting the Bill is that certain interested parties may, if they so choose, appear by Counsel before the Committee of the whole Council at the next meeting on this day week if they have any considerations to put forward with regard to any particular provisions in the Bill.

The Colonial Secretary seconded the motion and the Bill was recommitted.

Council then went into Committee.

The Attorney-General proposed and the Colonial Secretary seconded, that clause 12 be altered to read "Every police watchman" instead of "Every registered watchman." This was agreed to.

Sir H. E. Pollock referred to section (a) of sub-section I. of clause 3 dealing with fixing of wages payable by employers of watchmen, and asked whether it was the Government's intention to make this clause so wide as to cover private watchmen.

H.E. the Governor: This is one of the points, I understand, upon which the Council will be addressed by interested parties at the next meeting. I think the matter had better stand over so that we may hear what submissions they wish to make.

This course was agreed upon.

H.E. the Governor: The Bill will remain in Committee until the next meeting of Council.

Council then resumed.

H.E. the Governor: Council adjourns until Thursday next at 2.30 p.m.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The meeting of the Finance Committee followed, the Colonial Secretary presiding.

Votes for supplementary expenditure, totalling $9,725, details of which were given in yesterday's Daily Press, were approved.

A "GOOD SAMARITAN" DECEIVED.

TWO DESTITUATES RELIEVE HER OF $500.

A Chinese woman, of the kind that may be classified as "a good old soul," was the unfortunate victim of two rascals. The woman was accosted outside Sincere's by two well-dressed men who had a pitiful tale to tell about a remittance which had not arrived from a certain "wealthy relative."

Continuing the men produced a well wrapped up package which they asserted contained their family jewels. Wishing to uphold their family prestige, which precluded them from working, and at the same time being anxious to live, the two men declared that they were at their wits end as to what to do. The woman suggested that they should pawn the jewels. This was evidently the reply they anticipated, for they at once said that being new-comers to the Colony they knew nothing of pawnshop regulations or where such places were. The good woman replied that she could help them and forthwith the "jewellery" changed hands.

Reminding their helper that after all they were strangers the men suggested that security of some sort be given. If she would take the family heirlooms to the pawnshop they would be awaiting her return at Sincere's.

The good lady gave $500 in notes to the men, and hurried to perform her mission.

What followed can be anticipated. When the package was opened to the woman's grief, instead of jewellery, a lump of iron, neatly wrapped in paper, was found. Her "destitute" friends were missing, and up to the present they have not been found.

THE CHINESE Y.M.C.A.

FINANCE CAMPAIGN OPENS WELL.

The Chinese Y.M.C.A. on Bridges Street is a scene of more than usual activity these days as its officers and members are engaged in the Annual Membership and Financial Campaign. This was opened last Saturday night by twelve teams of about twenty each led by Chinese business and professional men. The lobby of the building is illuminated and posters tell the story of the varied activities of the organization through the past year. These will be changed from time to time until the close of the campaign on April 11th.

Satisfaction has been expressed by the officers of the Y.M.C.A. that not only are Chinese business men responding generously in this effort for their own young men but that foreign firms and individuals are also making gifts or in supplying members from their employees.

This week, in addition to the usual programme, on two evenings basketball matches have been played between teams of the U.S.S. Pittsburgh, flagship of the American Asiatic Fleet, which have drawn a full house. The playing has been clean and snappy.

Health Work.

A series of lectures on Health and Character are now being given on Sunday evenings and the next one, on April 1st, will be by Prof. C. Y. Wang of Hong Kong University on Bacteriology in Relation to Personal Health. Lantern slides will illustrate the lecture and there will be a musical programme including tenor solos by Mr. Li Chor Chi, Secretary of the Ho Hong Bank.

The free vaccination of children that was carried on during the second week in March has been continued at the request of many people who were unable to come in then. This is done by the Y.M.C.A. unit of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. This unit has also organized a class in First Aid which is being taught by Dr. E. W. Kirk of the Medical Department of the Government.

PUBLISHED TO-DAY

CANTON HEARD THE WELCOME NEWS
LAST WEEK THAT MARSHAL LI TSAI HSIN IS RETURNING TO CANTON BY THE MIDDLE OF APRIL.

The HONG KONG WEEKLY PRESS, published To-day, gives an elaborate scheme of reconstruction applying specially to the transport, telegraph and conservancy systems of Kwangtung which has been drawn up by the Reconstruction committee, and the Marshal is badly needed to continue his work of suppressing the disorderly elements while these improvements are taken in hand.

Cable news and extract from the Northern newspapers suggests that the big Nationalist thrust for Peking may be expected at any time.

The news in China is particularly interesting at the moment. Despite rumours of renewed fighting it is felt that the idea of peace is entering men's minds.

The WEEKLY PRESS also gives the usual summary of Hong Kong news, and includes in the issue the opening phases of a libel action brought by a Macao official against Mr. Lee Hysan, a well known member of the Chinese community. The alleged libel relates to the management of the Government Opium Monopoly in Macao.

A PEACEFUL FESTIVAL.CANTON BOY SCOUTS CONTROL TRAFFIC.MOTOR BUS PASSENGERS KIDNAPPED.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

CANTON, March 29th.

From early morning to late in the afternoon to-day, the roads leading to the Yellow Flower Hill were filled with the processions of organized bodies going to pay their respects to the 72 heroes who died in the First Revolution some 17 years ago. At the same time, many took this opportunity to visit the cemetery of the late Dr. Wu Ting Fang, a veteran Chinese diplomat and statesman who died in Canton several years ago while filling the post of acting Governor of Kwangtung. Despite the thousands making the pilgrimage there was perfect order, and the control of the traffic was mostly done by boys—the boy scouts of Sun Yat Sen University under Scout Commissioner Huang Hsin Chao. Colonel Lui Ting Kuo, commanding the Military Police, was also there on duty with a strong company of police to prevent any distribution of "Red" or seditious literature. Nothing of the kind was attempted.

Early in the morning, members of the Canton Administrative Council, the Provincial and City Kuomintang Committee, and other political or official representatives, presided over by Mr. Lin Sun, a former president of the Chinese Senate, offered sacrifices to the dead, and, following them, hundreds of other government and civic organizations of Canton. The band of the General Headquarters was in attendance, and there were scores of other military and school bands accompanying the parades to the cemetery.

Compared with previous years, the attendance was not so large, as many labour unions have been prohibited and were no longer able to join in the day's festivity.

Hundreds of wreaths were laid before the monument, and many were sent by relatives of the dead.

People in Canton have been very prone of late to scare one another with stories of coup d'etat and the like. At present Canton is very quiet, and big gatherings have taken place without any accident. If there are any "Reds" in Canton, they are afraid to show themselves.

Canton was quite excited last Wednesday evening when the Lingnan and the Sun Yat Sen University basketball teams contested for the City Championship and the Mayor Cup. Long before the game started, youngsters supporting the respective schools, professors, and city officials lined the gymnasium, and there was a great shouting all through the game until the Mayor handed his cup to Lingnan (formerly known as the Canton Christian College) whose team won the championship.

During the next few days Canton will welcome the football team from Singapore, now at Hong Kong, and there are plenty of people more interested in the arrival of the team than in the date when Marshal Li Tsai Hsin will return from Nanking. The campus of Sun Yat Sen University will be the scene of several games between the Singapore Chinese athletes and the local players.

A bus robbery occurred just outside the City last Wednesday night, when a bus belonging to a local company was on the way to Whampoa by the Chung Shan Road. Four robbers entered the bus as passengers and forced the driver to drive eastward. Practically all the 14 or more passengers were captured for ransom. The conductor and one passenger managed to get away, and so far no arrest has been made. Some village constables on duty along the Chung Shan Road realized what was going on but failed to stop the bus.

PROSPEROUS KWANGSI.

Mr. Tang Chik Yi, formerly dean of the College of Agriculture of Sun Yat Sen University and at present director of the Kwangsi Institute for Industrial Development, is now in Canton, having returned from Luichow, Kwangsi, where much progress has been made in road building and other public improvements. He mentioned that a period of peace in that Province has enabled the Government and the people to give their time to industrial developments. Soon there will be a cement works and Kwangsi has now more than 2,000 miles of public highways. Mr. Tang is returning to Kwangsi in a few days.

THE CHINA EXHIBITION.

A MARIONETTE SHOW.

LECTURE BY A WELL-KNOWN
TEACHER OF CHINESE.

The second day of the China Exhibition opened more auspiciously than the first as regards the weather, but the promoters had ample proof on Wednesday that the attractions of the Exhibition were sufficiently great to override the natural inclination of the public to risk getting wet.

The stalls all did a good trade, those where linen and china were for sale did best, but none had anything to complain of. Nor have the public, for yesterday the stalls were as fresh and full of attractive objects as they had been at the opening. We noticed that that of the Blind Girls' Home and the linen stall had almost entirely different stocks to the previous day which speaks wonders for the trade they must have done. We got used to "Church bazaar" prices and low prices that you are asked for the goods offered for sale at the China Exhibition are marked with the same and in some cases lower prices than you would pay in a shop.

THE OPENING CEREMONY.

The proceedings were opened by Sir Henry Pollock, K.C., and the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall with the Rev. W. W. Rogers in the chair and Mr. Mow Fung also on the platform.

SIR HENRY POLLOCK'S SPEECH.

Sir Henry Pollock said:—I am told that I am expected to say just a few words at the opening this afternoon, and accordingly I propose to trespass on your kind attention for a minute or two, though it is very difficult to add anything after the admirable speeches made here yesterday by General Luard and Sir Shou Son Chow; speeches which you will all have read in this morning's newspapers.

The great keynote of the successful progress of this Colony has been, as Sir Shou Son Chow well pointed out yesterday, the spirit of co-operation and goodwill which has mutually existed between the different nationalities, and in particular between the Chinese and British residents of Hong Kong.

On Monday next, the 2nd of April, I shall complete my forty years of residence in this Colony, and I am profoundly thankful which I have received during that period from numerous friends of non-British race, namely Chinese, Portuguese, British Indians and others. From these friends of other races I have also been able to learn much which is of value.

This afternoon we are met together to view an assortment of Chinese Arts and Crafts and to inspect various methods of manufacture of Chinese Articles, as well as to learn about Chinese life by means of tableaux and lectures. On behalf of the Colony generally I desire to thank the hardworking promoters and the various Committees for the pains which they have kindly taken in organizing and running this Exhibition. (Applause.)

DR. KOTEWALL.

Dr. R. H. Kotewall said:—"In assisting Sir Henry Pollock in reopening the Exhibition, I wish to associate myself with his happy remarks. It would be unnecessary for me to emphasize the objects and benefits of such a unique and worthy enterprise, so fully and ably have they been dwelt upon by Sir Henry, and by His Excellency Major-General Luard and Sir Shou Son Chow.

I have been told by those who came here yesterday that the Exhibition opened with every indication of an unequalled success in the weather. This is entirely due to the untiring efforts of the General Committee and their helpers, and the admirable arrangements they have made. (Applause.)

To my mind the greatest attractions of the Exhibition are the exhibits of Chinese arts, and the "demonstration area" in which Chinese craftsmen actually demonstrate the methods of their work. From the particulars given in the programme, I think that the collection of Chinese works of art, beautiful and varied though they are, could have been made even larger. For the next Exhibition which I feel is bound to come, I would appeal to the many collectors and connoisseurs in the Colony to emulate the unselfish example of those ladies and gentlemen who have lent their treasured possessions on this occasion. I would also make a suggestion that the Exhibition may be held alternately in Hong Kong and Kowloon. More room can be found in Victoria City, and, in addition, some of the collectors who may be reluctant to let their treasures go across the harbour, may be willing to lend them for exhibition on the Hong Kong side.

I have now much pleasure in joining with Sir Henry Pollock in declaring the Exhibition open. (Applause.)

SIR HENRY POLLOCK AND DR. KOTEWALL THANKED.

Mr. Mow Fung, who is one of the Vice-Presidents of the Exhibition, and to whose untiring efforts much of the success is due thanked Sir Henry Pollock and Dr. Kotewall on behalf of the Committee for having come to open the second day. We also know, he said, how busy they are and the sacrifice which their coming has entailed. The thanks of the Committee are also due to all past and present helpers who have assisted in making this Exhibition a success—to those who have made loans of exhibits, to the firms who have taken stalls, and the craftsmen of the demonstration area, to Mr. Wolfe for the assistance of the Police and to the Chief of the Fire Brigade, to the Officers and men of H.M.S. Cumberland for permitting the band to entertain, and to the gentlemen of the Chinese Band. The Chinese Band is composed of business men who have given up their evenings to come and help.

THE MARIONETTE SHOWS.

Mr. Punch's voice is international. We were drawn to the Chinese Marionette show by his familiar squeals of protest, to find a court scene being enacted in which a gorgeously dressed official seated on a throne was interviewing that we supposed was an European. The dolls are manipulated by what look like very fine chop sticks which support under their arms. They were guided by the showman and his two tiny daughters. The showman, being Chinese, realises the importance of a decorative effect. He hides behind a curtain whence his voice now angry, now pleading, now terrified issues tirelessly. But his assistants are charmingly dressed in gay material with their solemn little faces painted and powdered and in full view of the audience. We are quite sure that with the object of the China Exhibition in view, the Chinese members of the Committee would not allow any play to be performed, even by puppets, in which a European was ridiculed, but the poor fellow (if he was meant to be an Englishman) certainly seemed to be having a thin time! But his antics were drawing a large crowd of all nationalities. Sir Henry Pollock among them, and that is after all the important thing.

Great interest continues to be taken in the exhibits and the demonstration area and the sales go on merrily.

LEARNING CHINESE.

The Fruits Of Forty Years.

Experience. An able lecture was given in the Church Hall at 5.30 p.m. by the Rev. H. R. Wells on "Learning Chinese, its Simplicity and Difficulty." The lecturer has been for over 40 years in China and a member of examining boards for 20 years. He is at present teaching in the language school of the University of Hong Kong.

The Rev. Wells spoke of his pleasure in seeing the China Exhibition, which, he said, was the first of the sort to be held in Hong Kong. The exhibition was needed because we live to a great extent in ignorance of the lives and thoughts of the Chinese. One reason for this was that we did not learn their language. Many people would say that it was impossible to learn Chinese, but this was not true. He cited several cases of quite uneducated people who had acquired a working knowledge of the language in a few months, and mentioned his own experience on first landing in Canton when he went on a missionary journey three hundred miles into the interior, and was left alone for 14 days in a Chinese city. Under these circumstances one does learn at least a smattering.

22 Ways Of Saying Cow.

Chinese is simple because it is monosyllabic; the words which appear to have two or more syllables are in reality separate words, and it is fairly simple to learn to pronounce every word in the Chinese language. The difficulty lies in the tones. We use tones in English but not along strict lines. The tones were explained by a musical scale drawn on a blackboard and Mr. Wells showed his pupils how "No" could be pronounced in each tone. There were, he said, sometimes as many as twenty tones in which one word could be spoken, and he proceeded to give an example with the English word "cow."

A Lesson.

A short lesson in Chinese was then given to the interested audience, who were taught the words "I," "you," "he," "stand," "sit," "walk." The lecturer spoke of his desire to see schools for the learning of Chinese established in the Colony, and he himself could provide the teachers. He hoped that the Kowloon Residents' Association would take the matter up and that other schools might be started on the Peak and mid levels.

Value Of A Knowledge Of Chinese.

A very inspiring plan was put forward by Mr. Wells for the learning of Chinese. The World, he said, was getting smaller and was now faced by international problems of great importance. Everyone had some share in the formation of world relationship, and with the rapprochement of East and West of which Sir Shou Son Chow spoke the day before, it was most important that Europeans should understand "Continued on next column."

SAIWANHO BOILER EXPLOSION.

CHINESE ENGINEER'S EVIDENCE.

SAFETY VALVE NOT WORKING.

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE.

The adjourned inquest into the death of two Chinese as a result of injuries sustained at a boiler explosion in an oil factory at Saiwanho on March 13th, was continued yesterday before Mr. R. E. Lindell, sitting as Coroner at the Central Magistracy. The jury empaneled were Messrs. W. Macfarlane (foreman), B. W. Simmons and E. C. Fincher.

After Dr. Craig had given evidence as to the injuries inflicted upon the deceased Chinese engineer, who had had charge of the boiler up to the time it exploded, witnesses said that he had been employed on the job for about a month and a half. His wages were 50 cents per day, and that he had to work from 5 a.m. until 6 p.m. He had served 4 years' apprenticeship in Canton and since then had been employed on several similar jobs.

Describing the boiler, witness said that there was a feed-pump attached to the boiler and that it had to be brought into operation once every hour when the boiler was working. Generally the boiler was maintained at 60 pounds pressure, but on occasion witness had seen the pressure go up to 110 pounds. The safety valve did not work on that occasion. The steam gauge showed 150 pounds as the limit. As the safety valve did not lift when pressure rose to 110 pounds, witness was not in a position to say at what pressure the valve would work.

Since then, witness had always reduced steam when the pressure went up to 90 pounds. He had received no specific instructions as to the working of the boiler since he took over his duty, and had been guided by his own experience. Witness took it for granted that the safety valve was set at a safe pressure but had never taken the trouble to find out.

The water gauge in this boiler was cleaned once a week. On the day of the fatality, the furnace was lit at 2 a.m. and when witness went to his work at 5 a.m., he found that it was registering a little more than 50 pounds pressure. The feed pump was working well. The pressure gradually rose to 55 pounds. It went down again to 45 pounds just immediately before the explosion.

The chimney of the boiler ran through a cockloft and then to the roof. This cockloft caught fire a few minutes before the explosion. The chimney was not red hot, and the only explanation, witness could give, was that some sparks from the chimney ignited the wood-work of the cockloft.

The Coroner at this stage warned the witness that an engineer from the P.W.D. had testified that the explosion was caused by too little water in the boiler.

"Boiler Half Full."

Witness replied that the boiler was more than half full and his opinion was that with so much water inside, the boiler could not have exploded through that cause. At the time of the explosion, he was standing near it, and had sustained slight scalds and wounds.

In reply to the jury, witness said that whenever the pressure rose to 45 pounds, he would pump more water in. He had just used the pump for about 35 minutes prior to the explosion. The pressure was 53 pounds at the time of the explosion. The Foreman: According to my own personal experience, 35 pounds pressure is not sufficient to work the pump? Witness replied that 30 pounds was sufficient for the purpose.

The Enquiry was then adjourned until Monday afternoon.

the lives and thoughts of the Chinese. The learning the Chinese language was a tremendous opportunity which we ought not to neglect, especially in this time of the great need of China.

CHINESE RESTAURANTS POPULAR.

The rain which fell again last night once more rather spoiled the charming effect of the Chinese-style illuminations, and drove people from the exhibition earlier than they would otherwise have left. The Chinese restaurants have been very popular both for teas and dinners.

TO-DAY'S ARRANGEMENT.

To-day is the last day of the Exhibition. The Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes and Dr. S. W. Tso will open the proceedings at 3 p.m. and the special events will be:— 5.30 p.m. to 6.15 p.m.: Scenes describing Chinese Home Life and a Mandarin's Court, explanations by Miss Jean O'Hoy. 8 p.m. to 8.45 p.m.: Lecture: "The Chinese Mind," the Rev. G. H. McNeur.

HONG KONG'S SHIP-PING.

RETURNS FOR 1927.

HARBOUR MASTER'S REPORT.

The total shipping entering and clearing Ports in the Colony during 1927 amounted to 268,707 vessels of 44,127,101 tons which compared with the figures of 1926 show a decrease of 201,566 vessels and an increase of 330,725 tons. (The drop in number of vessels is due entirely to the steam launches engaged in local trade. In 1926 these accounted for 489,824 entrances and clearances against the corresponding figures of 519,555 last year.)

The number of vessels engaged in foreign trade entering and clearing was 51,239, the tonnage being 26,334,014, as compared with 30,231 vessels of 29,371,104 tons in 1926.

There was an increase in British ocean-going shipping of 460 ships of 403,023 tons.

Foreign ocean-going vessels show an increase of 2,299 ships and an increase of 3,992,445 tons.

British river steamers showed an increase in 1927 over 1926 of 3,273 ships and 1,829,653 tons. This increase was due to vessels again running on the Canton and West Rivers.

Foreign river steamers showed an increase of 935 ships and an increase of 453,420 tons.

The total revenue during the year was $1,000,229.80 as against $529,883.30 collected in the previous year, showing an increase of $173,341.41 or 17.92 per cent.

The expenditure in 1927 excluding special expenditure was $610,480.23 as against $534,678.91 in 1926, an increase of $75,801.32.

SECRET WIRELESS TELEPHONE.

DUTCHMAN'S LUCKY DISCOVERY.

INVENTOR NOW IN HONG KONG.

A few days ago a wireless message was sent to the Hong Kong Daily Press by Mr. W. B. Van Druten, a passenger on the a.s. Tikienkong, saying that he had invented a secret wireless telephone and that he was on his way to Hong Kong.

Mr. Van Druten who arrived here yesterday, claims that he has discovered what radio and wireless experts have been for many years seeking—a system of telephony and telegraphy in which secrecy is assured. The discovery was made by Mr. Van Druten by some lucky chance while he was conducting experiments in October last with his radio set. He claims that his invention could send ten messages at one time.

Mr. Van Druten is a young Dutchman from Batavia. The Dutch Government, he said, had offered him 25,000 guilders for his invention. He had not accepted it as he thought that he could get $685,000 from the U.S. Navy department. He is leaving for Manila shortly in this connection. Before making up his mind to approach the American Naval Authorities the inventor approached the British Consul in Batavia, but the latter could not promise him anything beyond paying Mr. Van Druten's expenses to England.

Mr. Van Druten said that his apparatus can be used with ordinary wireless receiving and transmitting sets. The cost of each instrument would not be more than $100 dollars in local currency. The invention could be used for ordinary cable or wireless telegraphy and telephony. Absolute secrecy is assured, he claims.

The apparatus was put to the test with much success. Messages had been sent between Batavia and Bandoeng and between Batavia and Sourabaya. It could also be equally effective over long distances.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

RANSACKED THE HOUSE FOR AN HOUR.

While the inmates of house No. 39, Tang Lung Street, had all gone to work, being labourers of the Nanyang Tobacco Factory, four armed men carried out a daring armed robbery at the above premises on Wednesday morning. After satisfying themselves that the men had left, the robbers returned and, on gaining admittance, soon overpowered the people, a woman, girl and youth, living in the house. The robbers spent a full hour ransacking the house and left with clothing and jewellery worth $411. The boy managed to free himself from his bonds and raised an alarm. The police, alerted, arrested an elderly man on suspicion, but later released him after interrogation.

THE ENGLISH CLIMATE.

Those who are contemplating their return home on leave this year are no doubt congratulating themselves that they escaped the summer in England last year, which was reported to be the wettest and worst since 1871. The English weather, like shares in rubber and the exchange value of the dollar, is something so variable, so inconsistent, that it keeps everyone interested in its doings from the beginning of January to the end of December.

Such a neurotic climate, however, has obviously certain definite advantages. It is really a great unifying principle, linking all as it were by a common sorrow, and at rare intervals by a special joy. The Chinese may have their queer written characters and their chopsticks to bind them as one great nation, but Britain has her weather to form that common bond. It never fails as a suitable introduction to any conversation. "Weather," English weather that is, is the great leveller; it makes it extremely easy for the stranger to greet stranger, for the Earl to open a debate with the worker, and for the town dweller to find a topic of concern

"LIANG HU" GENERAL'S APPROVE OF NATIONALIST OFFENSIVE.*WUHAN TROOPS CONCENTRATING AGAINST NORTHERNERS.*REPORTED DEFEAT OF FENGTIENESE FORCE.*MORE TROUBLE AT AMOY.

The anti-Japanese feeling at Amoy is perhaps not quite so acute as it has been for the last day or two, but the atmosphere is still electrical. There have been ugly incidents of stone-throwing, directed against Japanese residents, while one unfortunate man had his shop front broken in, while he himself was manhandled by students.

Later, things were quieter, though the town was flooded with pamphlets. The boycott still continues and the Japanese are compelled to unload their own ships. The Chinese authorities are enforcing martial law.

The conference of the generals of Hunan and Hupeh, which is meeting at Changsha, has passed a resolution to support Marshal Chiang Kai Shek in his offensive. It has not yet been decided what form this support will take.

Meanwhile there are reports of small Nationalist successes, and preparations for the big offensive are proceeding on both sides. Wuhan armies are moving to the support of the Nationalist offensive, and there is also a somewhat ominous rumour that they may attack the Christian General, should he be defeated.

THE NATIONALIST OFFENSIVE.*CHANGSHA CONFERENCE APPROVES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

HANKOW, March 29th. Monday's session of the conference at Changsha between the military chiefs of Hunan and Hupeh, passed a resolution advocating agreement with Marshal Chiang Kai Shek's immediate push against the Northern forces.

It was not however decided what material form their assistance would take.

Interest is now centred upon the arrival of General Li Chung Yen. The opinion is expressed that upon Li Chung Yen's views, will depend what part will be played by the Wuhan authorities in the Northern Expedition. General Hu Tung Tu arrived from Changsha this morning.

In Hankow, daily executions of suspected Communists continue. A further six were executed yesterday.

A STRATEGIC RETREAT?

(Wah Keung Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 29th. Owing to the fact that it is difficult to transport its ammunition and supplies, the Fengtien Army, says a telegram, has decided to abandon the city of Tatung, Shansi.

REPORTED SHANSI SUCCESS.

(Wah Keung Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 29th. A telegram from Taiyuan states that General Hsiang Chun, a commander of the Shansi Army, has defeated the Fengtien troops, under General Yu Shieh Shan, and has captured a large store of ammunition.

FENGTIEN ARMoured CAR TAKEN.

(Wah Keung Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 29th. A telegram from Chuchow states that the 1st Nationalist troops captured an armoured car belonging to the Fengtien army on the 28th. The commander, who was also captured, was sent back to Chuchow for interrogation.

NATIONALIST CHIEF OF STAFF.

(Wah Keung Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 29th. Marshal Chiang Kai Shek had paid a visit to Mr. Chang Chi Kiang on the 28th, urging the latter not to resign from the post of the Chief of Staff, and accordingly Chang has complied with his request.

MARSHAL LI'S RETURN.

(Wah Keung Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 29th. Marshal Li Tsai Hsin, says a telegram, will return to Canton in about a week's time, in company with General Chen Ming Shu.

NANKING POLITICAL COUNCIL.

(Wah Keung Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 29th. In a meeting of the Political Council at Nanking on the 28th, the following were appointed as the committee of the Canton Political Sub-Council: Messrs. Li Tsai Hsin, Tai Kei To, Chen Ming Shu, Li Man Fan, Fung Ju Man, Wang Shao Hung and Lam Yun Kiu.

THE ARMS TRAFFIC CONVENTION.*ITS APPLICATION TO CHINA.*POWERS NOT READY TO RATIFY.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, March 29th. Sir Austen Chamberlain declared that he had not yet abandoned hope that the Nanking negotiations would lead to a settlement, in answer to a question in the Commons to-day.

Sir Robert Thomas asked that in view of the fact that the continuance of strife in China was prolonged by the ease with which the contestants could obtain arms and ammunition in Europe, whether there was any prospect that League Convention, 1925, on the control of the traffic of arms would soon be ratified by members in addition to the two who had already done so.

China Arms Embargo.

Sir Austen Chamberlain replied that the effectiveness of the China arms embargo agreement in 1919 had been largely impaired by the fact that some of the principal arms-supplying States, notably Germany, Czechoslovakia and Russia, were not parties thereto.

Germany had declared her readiness to accede, through their Minister, at a meeting of the Diplomatic Body at Peking.

A meeting on February 21st, decided to impress upon their Governments the necessity for preventing the exportation of war munitions to China, and expressed the conviction that non-adhering Powers ought to be induced to do so as soon possible.

Urged Not To Import.

The Japanese Foreign Minister urged the Soviet Government to prohibit their nationals from engaging in the exportations.

Representations had been made by the British Minister at Prague to the Czechoslovakian Government, but M. Benes replied that he was unable to accede unless the agreement was really international and binding on all States.

Sir Austen added that Britain was prepared to ratify the Arms Traffic Convention of 1925 whenever the principal arms-producing Powers were simultaneously prepared to ratify.

Replies to a British suggestion from nine European Governments, Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Netherlands, Sweden, Spain, Italy and Czechoslovakia, and also Japan and the United States, indicated that there was no immediate prospect of simultaneous ratification.

He asked for notice of questions whether any of the Powers had expressed their willingness to ratify.

AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH. CHAIN OF EMPIRE STATIONS.*"CORRESPONDENCE CENTRES."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, March 29th. The Imperial Agricultural Research Conference which sat in London during October and toured Great Britain has submitted its report to the Government.

The Conference recommends the creation of an Empire chain of agricultural research stations, the creation in the United Kingdom of clearing-houses of information in agricultural science to serve the whole Empire, and the recruitment of training and enter-change of scientific workers in agriculture for the whole Empire.

The stations suggested are Queensland, Ceylon, East Africa, West Africa and Malaya. Ten highly qualified men should be the minimum staff.

Apart from capital expenditure, the annual maintenance would be about £20,000 for each station. The report emphasises the need for highly trained men for the Colonial agricultural service and suggests founding scholarships to promote agriculture.

GERMAN VIEW OF GENEVA. DR. STRESEMANN'S HOPE.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, March 29th. Dr. Stresemann delivered an important speech on the disarmament question at a banquet given by the Foreign Press Association in Berlin to members of the Government and of the Diplomatic Corps.

Speaking on the failure of the Geneva Disarmament Conference to come to a definite conclusion, Dr. Stresemann hotly denied the insinuation that Germany really did not wish general disarmament, but, rather, the right to arm herself.

Dr. Stresemann refused to believe in the final failure of the League of Nations on the disarmament question. He declared that the League dared not fail, for it had a duty which, if not fulfilled, must lead to serious consequences.

The leading military States had now to speak, and Dr. Stresemann hoped that their expectations would not be disappointed. Despite all criticisms and disappointments, he had not abandoned hope that the great idea of peace would prevail for the benefit of humanity.

THE AMOY TROUBLE.*SITUATION STILL DANGEROUS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

AMOY, March 29th.

The Chinese and Japanese situation has improved but is still dangerous. The port, however, is open for working ships. The anti-Japanese pickets have been withdrawn by the Chinese authorities who are enforcing martial law.

The Labour Unions are dissatisfied and the boycott will continue, compelling the Japanese to unload their own cargo. There was some stone-throwing last night, and several windows of Japanese residences and one shop front was broken, the Japanese owner being manhandled by the students.

To-day there are pamphlets everywhere but no disorder.

NATIONALIST CONCERNATIONS.*THREAT TO MARSHAL FENG.

[NAVAL WIRELESS.]

WUHAN, March 29th. Wuhan armies are concentrating, it is believed, in support of the Nationalist offensive. There is also a rumour that these armies may attack Marshal Feng Yu Hsiang in the rear if he should sustain a serious reverse.

NANKING, March 29th. It is reported that Chiang Kai Shek will leave on the 31st for the Northern front.

WUHU, March 29th. The C.M.S.N. Co.'s steamers arrived from Kiating with the 8th Division of the 3rd Army. Local junks are being commandeered.

SWOW, March 29th. The situation is somewhat easier as troops have been despatched to Cheoyang. Refugees arriving report the usual atrocities by the Communists.

CHANGING QUARTERS.

(Wah Keung Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 29th. Owing to the fact that fighting is expected in the south of Chihli in the near future, General Chang Hsiang Liang and General Yang Yu Ting have proceeded from Paoing to Shekchiachong.

Y.M.C.A. WORK IN CHINA.*ARMY COUNCIL'S THANKS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, March 29th. The Army Council has written to Sir Arthur Yapp expressing high appreciation of the services of the Y.M.C.A. with the forces in China, saying that Sir John Duncan has spoken most highly in this connection since his return from Shanghai.

The Council say that the work of the Association was never more welcome than in China during the present emergency and "the response of the Y.M.C.A. on this occasion had been in accordance with the high tradition they have established of helpful co-operation of the soldiers' interest."

VISIT TO HONG KONG.*JAPANESE FLEET SETS OUT.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

TOKYO, March 29th. The combined fleet, comprising more than eighty warships sailed in four detachments for various ports in North and South China, of which the battleships Mutsu, Magato, Fuso, and sixteen destroyers are bound for Hong Kong to exchange friendly greetings with the British China Squadron.

Though the visit is on an unusually large scale there is no special significance attached.

DUTCH RUBBER GROWERS.*ANGLO-DUTCH CO-OPERATION EXPECTED.*REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, March 29th. The Financial Times states that the post-ponement of the arrival of the committee of Dutch Rubber Growers until April 3rd strengthens the expectation of an official communication during the week-end with regard to the Civil Research Committee's investigation.

The rubber situation seems to give cause for greater confidence than for some time past, and some serviceable scheme of Anglo-Dutch co-operation may reasonably be expected.

It is now realised that even a gradual abandonment over two years of the existing restriction provisions would open up the prospect of a bitter fight.

MISSISSIPPI FLOODS.*U.S. TO TAKE PRECAUTIONS.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, March 29th. The Senate has passed a measure providing for the appropriation of $225,000,000 for the control of Mississippi floods.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

GERMAN ATLANTIC FLIGHT. 100 PER CENT. SUICIDE.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, March 29th. The Meteorological Observatory at Hamburg refuses to issue official weather forecasts for the benefit of Captain Koch and Baron Von Huchefeld, declaring that a Transatlantic flight at the present time would be 100 per cent. suicide in view of the unfavourable weather conditions.

SOLOMON ISLANDS MURDERS.*PRISONERS' SORRY FLIGHT.*TRIAL FIXED FOR AFTER EASTER.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

TULAGI, Solomon Islands, March 29th. Chief North and ten natives who were arrested at the beginning of December in connection with the murder of British officials in the Solomon Islands, have died in captivity.

Twenty-six others, including Chief Bassano, are supposed to be suffering from dysentery, which is attributed to the bad diet.

The trial is due to begin after Easter.

INDIAN POLICE HURT IN RIOT.*TWO STRIKERS KILLED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CALCUTTA, March 29th. Serious rioting has occurred, and the police were forced to fire on the mob, the disturbances arising out of the railway dispute and the lock-out by the East Indian Railway of the staff of the Lilloah workshops.

A clash between the Police and the men, who went on strike and were locked out when the Company refused to accede to their demands, led to serious disorders and the Police eventually fired, killing two and wounding five others.

The trouble began with 2,000 strikers attempting to persuade non-strikers to join them. The Police tried to disperse them and shortly afterwards they began to stone the police and a detachment of the Eastern Frontier Rifles.

The officer in charge of the Rifles and a Police superintendent were injured by stones, after which the firing was ordered.

RATIFICATION OF CONVENTIONS.*BRITAIN'S POSITION.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, March 29th. Britain's position regarding Convention ratification was detailed by Sir Austen Chamberlain in the House of Commons to-day, in answer to a question by Mr. Rennie Smith.

Sir Austen said that thirty-four Conventions, Protocols and so on, had been concluded under the League of Nations, of which number Great Britain had signed thirty.

H.M. the King had ratified 24 in respect of Britain.

NICARAGUAN ELECTIONS.*ENSURING AMERICAN CONTROL.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

MANAGUA, March 29th. The Cabinet has resigned at the request of General Diaz to enable him to select unanimous supporters of his policy of American supervision of the elections.

Some of the Ministers openly opposed the course pursued by the President, presumably under the influence of Dr. Chamorro, who is generally credited with having been responsible for blocking the passage of the McCoy Bill, which authorised American supervision.

Senor Pecos, the Foreign Minister, is being put up as the Conservative candidate for the Presidency.

FRANCO-AMERICAN TELEPHONE.*NEW SERVICE INAUGURATED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

MEXICAN PETROL SETTLEMENT.*PRESIDENT CALLS SIGNS.*RIGHTS OF COMPANIES.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, March 29th. The way was opened to a settlement of the dispute over the Mexican petroleum laws, when the Mexican Supreme Court decided in November that cutting down the rights of the oil companies to fifty years would be unconstitutional.

Mr. Frank Kellogg has always expressed the view that limitation of fifty years was confiscatory.

Mr. Dwight Morrow, the U.S. Ambassador, also secured a decision to give a more liberal interpretation to "positive acts" or the physical work required to make ownership of the oil lands acquired before 1917 effective.

The new regulations enumerate such acts as leasing, drilling, and generally doing any other positive act, or manifesting any intention of the character similar to those described. It was announced yesterday that President Calles had signed the new regulations.

AFGHAN KING'S VISIT. MARVELS OF MANCHESTER.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, March 29th. King Amanullah of Afghanistan spent this morning visiting industrial works at Manchester.

At the factory of the Metropolitan Vickers Electrical Company he saw some of the largest electrical plant yet manufactured in Great Britain and was shown the latest electrical devices.

Later the King of Afghanistan journeyed in a launch down the Manchester Ship Canal towards Liverpool.

The launch carried the Afghan flag and each ship berthed in the canal dipped her colours as the launch passed.

The canal banks were lined at different points by groups of people who cheered and waved to King Amanullah, who standing on the captain's bridge, acknowledged cheers by raising his hat.

The launch went as far as the Barton Viaduct which was swarming with people who were watching the marvel of modern engineering.

In the afternoon King Amanullah visited a coal mine on the outskirts of Manchester and inspected the mine workers.

"ROYAL OAK" COURT MARTIAL.*"NOT VERY IMPORTANT INCIDENT."*GREAT INTEREST IN GIBRALTAR.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

GIBRALTAR, March 29th. Intense interest is being taken in the court-martial arising out of the incidents on board H.M.S. Royal Oak at Malta. The place thronged with Pressmen and photographers, though the naval authorities and the Navy generally in accordance with tradition is maintaining a strict silence on the matter.

It is understood that the Court which opens to-morrow (Friday) will have Rear-Admiral C. S. Townsend (Rear-Admiral in charge of Gibraltar) as President, and that the members will be: Rear-Admiral L. G. Preston, Third Cruiser Squadron, Rear-Admiral Hon. Herbert Meade, commander Mediterranean destroyer flotilla, Rear-Admiral Kerr, and Rear-Admiral W. Tomkinson, Chief of Staff to Sir Roger Keyes until his retirement last year.

Captain Dewar, Commander Daniel and Mr. Day Kimball, their legal adviser, motored off to an unknown destination, doubtless in order to prepare their defence, and thereby escaping the crowd of would-be interviewers, photographers and sightseers, who are besieging the entrances to the hotel where the principal actors in the naval drama are staying.

It is revealed that the charge against Captain Kenneth Dewar and Commander H. M. Daniel, who were in executive positions on board H.M.S. Royal Oak, is laid under Section 45 of the Naval Discipline Act, laying down that anyone guilty of any act or disorder or neglect to the prejudice of the good order of naval discipline be dismissed from His Majesty's Service with disgrace, or otherwise punished.

Dismissal with disgrace involves the forfeiture of pension, medals and decorations and an incapacity to serve His Majesty again in any way, naval, military, air force or Civil Service.

This may, however, under the section be modified to simple dismissal from the service, or dismissal from the ship to which the offender, or offenders, belong.

Criticised Superior Officers.

LAWN TENNIS.

RUMJAHNS PROGRESSING.

JAPANESE PAIR WIN.

Weather and ground conditions proved to be far from satisfactory yesterday when the Hoag Kong Cricket Club Tournament recommenced after a break the previous day. Much interest centred in the appearance of the Rumjahns against the Greens in the Open Doubles Championship of the Colony and a good crowd turned up to watch the match. The Rumjahns cousins won as expected, but they had to go all out to win the first set which went to sixteen games. They took the two following sets, however, fairly comfortably, the final score in their favour being 6-7, 6-2, 6-1.

The Rumjahns have been seen to play better tennis than they showed yesterday and it seems that from the form other pairs in the Tournament have shown that the struggle for the Open Doubles will be very even.

Their combination was not as good as usual. S. A. Rumjahn was not quite as consistent as usual and although he made some fine shots, he missed his mark often during the match. The Greens put up a very good performance and deserved credit for making the score even after being 3-3 down in the first set.

They troubled their opponents lot by taking the lead at 6-5. They led again at 7-6 and the Rumjahns had to extend themselves fully to win the first set at 9-7. Thereafter many games went to deuce before being decided, but the Rumjahns had the upper hand most of the time.

"Sammy" Green gave a forceful performance and sent many stinging drives over the net. He remained at the baseline most of the time and the Rumjahns beat him occasionally with drop shots. His son backed him ably yesterday and made fewer mistakes than usual.

The Rumjahns now meet the winners of T. Honda and T. Akiyama in the third round, the ultimate winners to enter the semi-final.

Other Matches.
T. Honda and T. Akiyama beat E. D. Lawrence and W. A. Nowers 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

AMERICAN SAILORS TO FIGHT AT LEE THEATRE.

There are capital programmes for boxing fans to-night and to-morrow. At the Lee Theatre on Saturday night several pugilists from the American Fleet which is now in port will meet some of the local experts.

To-night at 9 p.m., at the Murray Barracks, there will be eleven fights between the leading boxers of the 2nd Bat. K.O.S.B. and a select team of fighters from the H.M.S. Cumberland.

The Naval party are known to be tough fighters and they will certainly give good account of themselves. The lads from the K.O.S.B. will be McGuire, Gordan, Carney, Woolley, Hume, Boyer, Armet, Smith and McConnell, who have all been seen in Hong Kong at the City Hall and Lee Theatre.

The tournament on Saturday should be well worth seeing. Some of the American lads come with a big reputation, and as they hail from the land where champions are born and raised, they certainly know something of this noble art of self defence.

The full programme is appended:—

12 Round Contest for Welterweight Championship of the Colony.
Marine Fraser (H.M.S. Tamar) v. Whitley Roberts (U.S.S. Black Hawk).

6 Round Lightweight Contest.
L. S. Hall (H.M.S. Titania) v. Red Michener (U.S.S. Black Hawk).

The WOMAN'S PAGE

CHIC IN THE RAIN.

WATERPROOFS WHICH ALLURE.

Rain or shine makes no difference now-a-days; we can still be chic. In fact waterproofs are so beautiful that there's many a woman praying for a wet spell!

The attractive coats which I was shown in LANE, CRAWFORD'S are typical of the latest weather-proof fashions. These coats are so smart that anyone would be proud to wear them and the old time ulster is gone let us hope for ever. Rubbed velvet and crepe de chine take on the most lovely surfaces and colourings. Cyclamen, jade, mushroom, and oyster are colours used as well as the pretty reds, greens and blues which have banished the dingy trench coat colour from the streets.

A grey, herring bone tweed-effect is seen on one mac, another is like a fine pearl grey gabardine while a very smart garment is made of rubberised black satin with a touch of scarlet on collar and cuffs. Yet

GERANIUMS AND PEACH BLOSSOM.

FLOWERS FROM "THE LANTERN."

I noticed when I went into the STON or THE LANTERN the other day a big blue ginger jar filled with geraniums. I love Holly Hogg and am not given to sentimentalising over Home, but that bowl of flowers carried me back to pleasant English gardens and it came as something of a shock when I realised that the blossoms must be artificial, for they were really exquisitely made. I expect you know too those very decorative sprays of peach blossom, which are made in this country, and which most of the shops which display oriental goods make use of for their decorative schemes. You can get them at the LANTERN in various colours, pink, orange, and blue, at only 30 cents a spray and they can be manipulated to pose most artistically in any vase. I found that Miss Honores has also just received a big box of

WHEN THE SUN SHINES.

VICTORIAN SUNSHADES.

I do not know if the idea was a development of the new long picture frocks, but the very latest sunshades have a curious resemblance to those used by our grandmothers. They are tiny and very feminine, far too tiny you would think to be used with the quite big hats which are the latest things in summer headwear.

Pamela has the most delightful collection of these new sunshades and I spent very happy half hour examining them. Some of them open up quite flat; others are as deeply rounded as those which early Victorian beauties used. Filmy nylon, lace, painted chiffon, and georgette are used in their construction and I was gravely told that they will all wash. Perhaps that is as well in this land of sudden showers but I think a brin d'esudde would be safer than lux myself.

There is one of pink nylon on which large parrots are painted, another combines two frills of gold lace with flower painted nylon; and a charming model is made of flesh coloured georgette painted with natural heads of delphinium growing inward from the border.

The combination of filmy lace and georgette is charming. I particularly admired one which has a narrow border of white georgette round an exquisite piece of black shadow lace, and another sunshade which opens quite flat which is made up of tiny frills of teru lace separated by bands of nylon of the same shade painted with small conventional flowers.

Two very smart sunshades are made of black chiffon and have large loose petaled silk flowers stitched on to them. But perhaps the most dainty of all is net covered with tiny frills of apple green taffetas.

The handles are all simple with a tassel to match the covering and are very short. These little sunshades are as appealing down as up for the soft folds of the material make them not unlike pretty evening bags.

ROUND THE TOWN.

SEEN IN THE LOCAL SHOPS.

In the men's department of WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW'S I found some artificial silk socks for only $1 a pair in white, palm-beach, grey or black. These are one of Whiteaway's standard values and are an excellent bargain for the money.

Silk Stockings.
Far more important, of course, are silk stockings for ourselves, and the PROVEN Silk Socks have just got a new make, "Miss Madrid," which are under $2 the pair. They are full-fashioned have a special non-ravel thread below the hem, and are made in all the very latest colours.

Kimono.
I saw some really lovely silk embroidered kimono in POHOOMULL'S in rather different colour schemes to those we generally find here. The one that took my fancy was of a solid silk of the new chestnut brown embroidered with stiff little mari-gold flowers in dull reds and greens. Very attractive too, was a kimono in a rich wine coloured satin with a dragon embroidered on it in gold thread.

Costume That Cannot Fade.
"Fastolite" racement cloth cannot fade either in the sun or the wash tub, it is fully guaranteed not to do so. WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW'S are stocking it in a full range of shades 50 inches wide at $1.75 a yard.

New Silks.
Among the new silk arriving at the PIONEER SILK STORE this week are coloured tugi in all shades, new radium crepe, plain georgette, printed crepe de chine, and brocaded spun crepe which is a very lovely and fairly expensive material.

BEAUTY'S FINISHING TOUCHES.

A coiffure and a Boudoir fashion from Paris.

another pattern simulates glistening rain drops.

Most of these are "Milwata" rain coats, and I was told that there were a number of other designs expected by a boat which should be in by the time you read this. The prices run from $19.50 and you can get umbrellas to match most of the coats.

A BOUDOIR ENSEMBLE.

Very becoming both to the young woman and one not so young is the coiffure illustrated. It has a centre-parting and is waved so that the hair falls in two curves round the face, finishing with curls on the cheeks. This gives a charmingly softened effect to the profile while retaining the sleek outline desirable in the shingled coiffure.

dress flowers some of which are most exquisite and all attractive. A loose bunch of little pink buds made of rolled strips of organdie and framed with bright green leaves pleased me most, except perhaps a spray of two William Allen roses made of delicately tinted crepe de chine. Most of the modern dress flowers have the assertiveness of orchids, but these, which I found in this shop were a daintier more retiring and more naturalistic order. If you are looking for flowers to accompany afternoon frocks or evening gowns cut on simple chic lines you cannot do better than pay a visit here.

The negligee of gold and black lamé has a shawl collar and cuffs of fox fur dyed gold. The novel mirror has an iron frame and the powder bowl is of pink crystal on an ebony stand.

CHIC FOR YOUR BEDROOM.

The artificial silk trade has made enormous and almost incredible strides. No doubt the duty on silk imported into Britain has had an effect but there was every indication, even before these protective measures were taken, that the artificial silks were going to become a real factor in our lives. Colour is of enormous importance to happiness, and we are learning every day to appreciate this fact. Water proofs are blossoming in all known and unknown colours: we have learnt to use coloured table linen and towels, and even men's clothes are less uniformly dingy than they were.

Here is a style that is difficult to wear but extremely chic. The fitted skirt, wide belt and a swathed collar are all the latest whim of Madame la Mode.

But the tradition of the white bedspread died hard. White seemed (Continued on next column).

MODES WITH PERSONALITY.

Smart women are no longer content to look well in styles that almost anyone could wear successfully: they now affect modes which are decidedly difficile and quite unlikely to appeal to the general taste.

They wear, for instance, pleated skirts which begin at the natural waist line—surely the most trying of all garments.

Collars And Sleeves Of The Moment.

Then there is the blouse that is tucked inside the skirt—anything but easy to carry off well. When this has one of the shapeless, rucked collars to match the mousquetaire sleeves of the moment, it is a matter to be treated with the utmost respect by anyone who has not a firmly established reputation for chic.

To all these difficulties is frequently added the very wide double belt exploited by so many of the grandes maisons this season.

All these things are shown in the sketch, but, as a concession to popular taste, the lady completes her ensemble with a closely embroidered sleeveless bolero.

ed appropriate, and yet nothing more definitely dubs a room a bedroom and makes it harder to get a satisfactory colour scheme, than a big mass of white bed.

The new bedspreads which have just arrived at WHITEWAY, LAIDLAW'S show what can be done with artificial silk. They are, so I am assured, the very latest thing, and are making their first appearance at Home now. The material is worked with a gold warp and a damasked pattern and the colour range is quite wide. They are guaranteed washable and fadeless. I liked best one which was called pearl and gold, of which the ground was gold with a mauish mole tint and the pattern gold, but the gold and orange, and gold and blue were just as attractive.

YOUTHFUL HANDS AND ARMS.

WOMEN DEFY THE PASSING YEARS.

[By MARION RYAN.]

"Of course, Madam will have an arm treatment," said the beauty specialist.

"Of course," murmured my New York hostess from the depths of the chair where she was reclining with her face swathed in cloths soaked in astringent and tonic and over which a huge lump of ice had been rubbed, and she extended two white arms tapering down to small hands with well-manicured nails.

I had often noticed that New York women can show their arms in the sleeveless gowns of to-day without embarrassment, but not until I saw that treatment did I realize that youthful round white arms when one is past youth can still be achieved or preserved with care and patience.

One of Nature's most cruel betrayals of years is in the hands and since the New York woman, who has money enough and patience enough and pride enough in her appearance, has set out to foil Nature's work as hard to keep her hands and arms young as she does to keep her face and figure young. So this beauty specialist began a thorough treatment of the arms.

Treatment For Elbows.

Because the elbows were a little rough, she first filled a basin with hot water and a tablespoonful of Epsom salts and in this basin both elbows were thoroughly soaked and rubbed till the softening salt water entered the pores. Such roughness, she explained, comes from a certain acidity as well as from the chapping effect of extreme cold.

Massage With Cream.

After a drying with a soft towel she began a massage with a soft oily cream. Each finger had its own special attention, and the cream was well worked in. Then from the base of the fingers she massaged first with a pinching movement and then with long free strokes up the arm to the shoulder, using more and more cream until it seemed as if the skin could hardly absorb it all. But it did, for as the arm glowed with the warmth of the massage the pores opened and admitted it. That was all that was necessary for my friend's beautiful arms, and the treatment finished with a smooth, careful application of a silky liquid powder.

Slimming The Wrists And Hands.

For hands and wrists that are too fat she has special exercises. To start the tapering down process she makes you stretch out the hand with every finger stiff. Then beginning with the thumb she revolves them round and round. Then she turns the hand round and round from the wrist. She teaches her clients to do this for themselves so as to make wrists and fingers flexible and exercise the controlling muscles which become flabby in lazy hands.

She has rubber gloves for the hands and rubber bands for the wrists, and likes them to be worn at stated intervals during the day after a good soaking in hot water. She also makes rubber corsets for fat arms rather like those for leg use, and advocates a hard massage after they are removed. And if hands and elbows are rough she suggests a change of diet, fewer cocktails, less champagne, and plenty of good skin food rubbed into the red rough places. Also a carefully selected soap or an oat-meal wash.

Value Of A Nourishing Skin Cream.

As the arms and hands of the majority of New York women are more inclined to plumpness than thinness, most of her work is on reducing lines. But for scrawny arms and hands she also uses massage as a helpful medium; but in these cases she works a thick oil into the skin, advocates the use of such oil at night, and advises cold water instead of hot for washing, and as little washing as possible. She thinks dry, wrinkled hands are partly due to continual hot water and soap and has found that cleansing them with cream produces good results in keeping them young.

WIFE'S FATAL JOKE.

A warning to all sportsmen not to put their guns away loaded was given by the Newquay (Cornwall) coroner, when an inquest was held on Stanley Grant, a 37-years-old vanman, of 19, St. George's-road, who was accidentally shot by his wife on the previous day while sitting at the dinner-table.

Evidence was given that the wife—whose mother-in-law said that the couple were very happy, but were fond of practical joking—took her husband's double-barrelled gun from a cupboard as he was cleaning. She said jokingly, "I am going to shoot you, mother!" and afterwards pointed the gun at her husband. He told her it was empty, but advised her to put it down. The gun went off, killing the man instantly.

The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental Death," the result of a frolic.

MALAYAN CHINESE FOOTBALLERS.

ARRIVE YESTERDAY BY THE "MOREA."

INTERESTING PROGRAMME OF MATCHES.

The Malayan footballers who arrived yesterday by the a.s. Morea will be the guests of the Hong Kong Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation to which all the Chinese athletic clubs of the Colony are affiliated. The Chinese Recreation Club, Chinese Athletic Association, Hong Kong University, South China A.A., Chinese A.A.C.A., Chinese Bathing Club, etc., are taking part in entertaining the visitors.

The Malayan party consists of twenty-four persons, nineteen of whom are players, and is headed by the Captain of the team, Mr. Yee Cheok Wai of the Singapore Chinese Football Association and Aston Club. They are being accommodated at the King Edward Hotel, and are due to leave Hong Kong on the Kalyon on April 9th.

The team is comprised of star players from Singapore, Perak and Selangor, and is reputed to be worthy opponents for any team in this Colony. Before their departure they met the best teams there, including Europeans, and beat every team comfortably.

At present only two games have been definitely arranged. Through the courtesy of the committee and members of the H.K.F.C., they are to be played in the Club ground, Happy Valley at 4.30 p.m.

These games are on Sunday between Hong Kong Chinese and Malayan Chinese and on Wednesday April 4th, Malayan Chinese v. H.M. Navy.

A game on Tuesday, Malayan Chinese against Hong Kong Civilian has been submitted to the H.K. Football Association for approval and a game against the Army will take place, if circumstances permit, after the above matches. The team is visiting Canton on April 4th and will play a match there the following day.

The Hong Kong Chinese Team to meet the visitors includes: Pau Ka Ping, Lai Yuk Tat, Ng Kam Chuen, Iun Yuk Ying, Wong Shui Wah, Leung Yuk Tong, Chan Kwong Ju, Suen Kam Shun, Lee Wai Koon, So Kwai Shing, Wong Pak Chong (of Chinese Athletic), Leung Wing Tak, Fung King Cheong, Ip Pak Wa, Lee Tin Sang and Lai Ting Tsui (of South China). The final line-up on Sunday will be announced in a day or two.

An Interport Trophy.

The visitors have brought up with them a trophy donated by Mr. Gao Khek Kham of the Ho-Ho-Biscuit Factory, Ltd., for competition here and arrangements will be made between the Singapore and local representatives for the inauguration of annual football competitions on Interport lines. The trophy is a magnificent one and is said to be valued at over $1,000.

In addition to the games mentioned a programme of social and other activities during the visitors' stay has been drawn up, enabling them to see all the sights of the Colony.

AT PRACTICE YESTERDAY.

The players were seen yesterday afternoon practising at the Club ground, Happy Valley. At 4.30 in the afternoon the whole team was invited to tea by students of the Hong Kong University. A noted guest present was Dr. Wu Lin Teh, who was on board the a.s. Morea with the footballers. He spoke highly of the value of football and concluded by saying "Football will teach you to play together. It will help Chinese people to get together, and teach China from now onwards to show a united front."

"THE UNKNOWN."

LON CHANEY IN HIS MOST WEIRD ROLE.

[By OUR FILM CRITIC.]

Let us begin by saying that "The Unknown" is most certainly not a picture to which it would be advisable to take a nervous or excitable child, or for that matter anyone who suffers from nightmares. It will delight those who take a pleasure in the macabre, and the average person will feel its power and the really extraordinary acting of Lon Chaney.

Every picture according to its producers claims at least one adjective in the superlative, it either is the most costly or the most beautiful or the most magnificent, but "The Unknown" can justly claim to be the most weird. Many other films might claim this title come into your mind, "The Cat and the Canary" and "The Bat" for example. But in none of them is unnatural horror so well sustained. The atmosphere is that of Grimm's immortal story of the "Man who could neither shiver nor shake," but to see it pictured is more telling than mere words can be.

Lon Chaney is the armless freak of a circus, and we must here, by the way, withdraw what we said some days ago that "You Never Know Women" was the only film in which circus turns had any semblance of reality; those in "The Unknown" short as they are, are good. "Alonzo" (Chaney) is, we gather, a criminal with a leaning for strangling and theft; with the aid of his friend the dwarf "Cojo" he passes in the circus for an armless freak. Naturally we of the audience honour Mr. Chaney, and are not surprised when Cojo, unlaces his stays and his prisoned arms are released. But for all that he impresses himself on us as a monstrosity, in a way in which he fails to do even as the hunchback of Notre Dame. Alonzo's feet are his hands, with them he feeds, smokes, and makes all those familiar gestures which the Latins use even more than we. So accustomed has he become to this imposture that even in the secrecy of his caravan at night with hands free he still uses his feet.

We are not all "good Samaritans" and whether we wish to or not, we most of us look on mutilations and distortions with a certain repugnance which Mr. Chaney's gift for grimace serves to heighten. But we are not only asked to suffer him but to pity him, for Alonzo makes a supreme sacrifice for love. "Nanon" the lovely circus girl holds all his queer warped heart. But Nanon has a horror of men's hands "all my life," she says, "men have been trying to paw me," and despite this she is in love with the strong man Malabar, though she will not admit it.

Alonzo determines to win Nanon and fearing that her love might be turned to hate if after marriage she discovered his arms he has them amputated by a doctor over whom he has a hold. When he returns from the doctor's nursing home he finds that Nanon and Malabar are engaged to be married!

The climax is in keeping with the whole. Malabar's new feat, in which he stands between two horses with a hand heeled to the harness of each, provides an opportunity for revenge. The horses are galloping on tread mills which are regulated by a lever. In the hope that his rival will be torn in pieces Alonzo stoops the treadmill; but Nanon leaps to the head of one of the startled plunging horses, and in an endeavour to save her from its hooves, Alonzo is himself killed while Malabar escapes uninjured.

ANOTHER JUNK PIRATED.

TWO MEN HELD FOR RANSOM.

A Chinese arriving in the Colony on Wednesday reported to the police that his junk had been pirated off Wai Nam Chung in the vicinity of Hong Kong. The junk was on its way to Shatin carrying a cargo of charcoal dust when they were approached by a sampan. The occupants of the sampan suddenly drew alongside and boarded the junk and very soon overpowered the owners. They then sailed the junk into Chinese waters. However, the narrator managed to escape and made his way back to Hong Kong. He states that his two other companions are still in the pirates' hands and that a ransom of $500 each is being demanded.

THE LAW OF EXTRADITION.

WHAT IS MARSHAL LI TSAI HSIN'S POSITION?

KWANGTUNG GOVERNMENT NOT SIGNATORY TO PEKING TREATY.

THE CASE OF THE TUNG KOON FUGITIVES.

Interesting legal arguments were again heard at the Supreme Court yesterday when the application for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of two alleged criminal fugitives from Tung Koon was continued yesterday before the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice J. R. Wood.

One of the points raised by Mr. Hin Shing Lo, Counsel for the fugitives, was that the Kwangtung Government was not a Power signatory to the Peking Treaty, and Marshal Li Tsai Hsin, who signed the requisition order for the surrender of the fugitives, could hardly be treated as an officer of the Peking Government. At the present moment, Counsel said, Marshal Li appeared to be against the Peking Government, but might, at any moment, be with that Government again.

Mr. Somerset Fitzroy, Counsel for the Crown, said that whether or not Marshal Li was recognized as an officer of the Chinese Government was a matter between the Government of Hong Kong and the Kwangtung Government. It was not within the power of the Court to decide on this. It was clear that Marshal Li Tsai Hsin had signed the requisition for the surrender of the fugitives to the Hong Kong Government. The requisition was accepted and that was in accordance with the Treaty and Ordinance as regards the extradition of a foreigner.

Mr. Hin Shing Lo, instructed by Messrs. Lee and Russ, commenced his argument yesterday morning and when the case adjourned at 4.30 p.m., he had not finished.

Before proceeding with his legal argument, Mr. Hin Shing Lo asked whether there was any special reason why the prisoners were not in Court. He said that as their liberty was at stake, they should be present to hear the case.

His Honour said that he decided to send for the fugitives when he gave his decision, but if Counsel desired it, he would arrange for them to attend in the afternoon. Authority of Treaty and Statute.

In his opening address Mr. Hin Shing Lo said that extradition, according to Sir Francis Pigott, could not be effected without full authority under a Treaty and Statute.

As to Mr. Fitzroy's point that an extradition requisition was a matter between two Governments, Mr. Hin Shing Lo submitted that the Kwangtung Government, as at present constituted, could hardly be considered a Power signatory to the Tientsin Treaty.

Mr. Fitzroy had said that the court would not go behind the order of the Governor, and this clearly showed that the Governor's order was necessary, but how could the Governor issue such an order without first receiving a requisition for the surrender of the men. It must be remembered that the surrender was only made possible by the Governor's order to the magistrate, consequent on a requisition received. If the Court was satisfied that the men had been wrongfully arrested or wrongfully detained, it would be the duty of the Court to discharge them.

Should Come From Peking.

The requisition in this case bore the seal of Marshal Li Tsai Hsin, but in accordance with the Ordinance, it should have come either from the Peking Government or from an officer representing that Government.

The Judge pointed out that according to an amendment the requisition had to be from a Chinese authority. A requisition could therefore come either from a Viceroy or other officer administering a Provincial Government.

Marshal Li Tsai Hsin, an Officer of Peking.

Mr. Hin Shing Lo replied that it was common knowledge that Marshal Li Tsai Hsin could hardly be treated as an officer of the Peking Government. At the present moment he appeared to be against Peking but there might come a time when the Marshal would be on the side of that Government again.

His Lordship: We have no evidence to that effect.

Mr. Hin Shing Lo: That could be inferred.

Counsel went on to say that in a Habeas Corpus case every loophole should be thoroughly investigated and a distinction should be drawn between it and a criminal case. There was ample evidence to show that the Court could go by inference and possibly invite fresh evidence at any stage.

A Matter For The Executive.

Continuing Mr. Hin Shing Lo said that when the Treaty between China and Great Britain was signed in 1850, the matter of extradition was clearly defined. This Treaty was then transferred by the Emperor to the people in June 1912. The Republic of China then made their own Constitution and this Constitution did not make Marshal Li Tsai Hsin an officer of the Chinese Republic.

His Lordship: The only thing now is whether Marshal Li Tsai Hsin is the recognized officer of the Chinese Government. The onus is with Mr. Hin Shing Lo to prove to the contrary.

CATAPULTING THE GOVERNOR.

SIR HUGH CLIFFORD AND THE VINDICTIVE'S AEROPLANE.

SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT.

SINGAPORE, March 29th.

One of the most striking of modern naval developments was demonstrated to Sir Hugh Clifford on board the British cruiser Vindictive this morning, when His Excellency was catapulted from the cruiser in a seaplane.

After the cruiser had been brought to, facing the wind, in the vicinity of St. John's, the seaplane shot up into the air with startling suddenness, circled around the ship once or twice, and then made for Singapore. After passing over Government House and Pulau Brani it returned and landed beside the ship, the flight lasting about twenty minutes.

His Excellency went aboard the Vindictive at the Admiralty wharf, Keppel Harbour, at 8 a.m., and the cruiser immediately left the wharf and went about four miles out into the roads. The seaplane in which His Excellency was taken up was a Fairey Three D reconnaissance machine, fitted with a 450 h.p. Napier Lion engine, and it was piloted by Flight Lieutenant Maxton. The seaplane was lowered on to the sea from the hangar by a crane and lifted back again, with its pilot and passenger, after the flight.

The "Vindictive" Leaves.

The Vindictive, which made a brave sight as she steamed through the channel with the ensign at her stern and the long paying-off pennant—significant of over two years in the China seas—streaming from one of her masts, left for Home this morning.

PLANE'S 15 SPINS.

HOW R.A.F. BOMBER CRASHED ON CLOUD FLYING PRACTICE.

A verdict of "Accidental Death" was returned at the inquest at Eastchurch Aerodrome on March 28th on the three occupants of the R.A.F. machine which crashed in the Isle of Grain. The victims were:

Pilot-Sergeant William B. Maltman, 29, Leading Aircraftman Sidney C. Mason, 29, and Aircraftman William G. Lowman, 22. All were single men.

Flying Officer Lionel Weeden said that Sergeant Maltman was to join him in formation flying practice, and when he signalled to him to break away from formation he was to carry on cloud flying practice.

"We were in formation for half an hour on the south side of the Medway towards Rochester, getting back to the south of Sittingbourne," he said. "At that time we were 3,000 feet high. I gave the signal to break away. He turned and proceeded in a southerly direction. That was the last I saw of him."

The Coroner (Mr. E. C. Harris): Did the plane appear to be functioning properly? Everything appeared to be normal.

Flying Officer Weeden, replying to other questions, said that if the pilot were looping he might have stalled on the top of the loop and his nose in that case would come down and he would get into a spin.

Other evidence was given that the machine came down quickly in a spin and struck the beach nose first. Sergeant Maltman was found hanging over the side tangled up in his parachute. The machine spun about fifteen times before crashing.

Two workmen who were first on the scene were complimented by the jury for their prompt action.

whole as one big change. After referring to changes which he said rendered the amendment bad, counsel continued how could they know that the fugitives were being surrendered to an enemy.

His Lordship pointed out in that case it was for Mr. Hin Shing Lo to produce evidence to show that the person to receive the prisoners was a rebel.

No Obligation To Surrender.

Counsel disagreed, saying that his Lordship would appreciate the point raised, as to which party should prove that. Continuing Mr. Hin Shing Lo added that the new sections added had the effect of declaring jurisdiction retrospectively which he submitted was bad in law.

Submitting that a formal accusation by a tribunal in China was a conditional precedent to a request for extradition, counsel contended that nothing was done in any part of China until the proceedings commenced in Hong Kong. That puts now completion on the matter and not the Chinese machinery in motion.

He added that the Wang accusation in Hong Kong was made after the crime was committed. He submitted that if there was no foreign warrant then no extradition proceedings were sound.

The case was adjourned until this afternoon at 2.15.

PASSING OF THE LIGHTHOUSE.

WIRELESS REPLACING DEACONS.

"LISTEN—NOT LOOK."

[BY A SHIPPING EXPERT.]

Perhaps without knowing it, Sir Arthur Clarke, K.B.E., in his recent lecture on Trinity House showed how the old visible lighthouse was going to give way to the new wireless lighthouse. The navigators of the future will listen instead of looking.

His lecture on Trinity House, given to the Royal Society of Arts, showed how the old customs of lighting Britain's coasts were giving place to modern wireless methods to help ships around our shores.

Trinity House is the oldest shipping organisation in the kingdom. It started its serious work for shipping in the days of Queen Elizabeth, when it was allowed to put up small beacons and levy dues on the ships that benefited therefrom. There are three bodies that look after the lighting of our coasts to-day—Trinity House, the Commissioners of Northern Lights, and the Irish Light Commissioners, and their services cost the country about £1,000,000 a year.

Shipowners, in addition, have to pay heavy dues for lighting, and as they consider Trinity House, and its associated organisations, quite out-of-date in view of the modern wireless aids offered to navigation, they naturally kick against the forced levies of this antiquated body.

Owners' Trade Union. The Chamber of Shipping, which is really a trade union of British shipowners, has often protested against the unfair charges on shipping by Trinity House. At the coming meeting of the chamber, in a week's time further resolutions on this subject will be dealt with.

In the year 1917 the work of Trinity House was hotly objected to by the local inhabitants of the Lizard, who complained that light-houses would "take away God's grace from them, as they will have no more benefit from shipwreck."

To-day it is the shipowner who objects to the work of Trinity House as a service far too expensive for the results it gives to British shipping. Yet this ancient corporation functions in tranquillity because of the great power given to it by historic charters. In 1876 and 1885 Samuel Pepys was Master of Trinity House. To-day the members of the corporation consist of an indefinite number of Young Brethren and about twenty-four Elder Brethren.

The Board.

Ten of these, all real seamen, constitute the board and carry out the active work. The others are men of high distinction in all paths of life, and include the King, the Prince of Wales, Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Prime Minister, and the First Lord of the Admiralty. The Duke of Connaught is the present Master, and Vice-Admiral George Mansel, who presides over board meetings, is the deputy master.

Trinity House, realising the coming of the wireless lighthouse in place of the old visible one, is now installing these new aids to navigation at Round Island, in the Scilly Isles, at the Caskets, Skerries, and Lundy Island.
